The Fastest, Easiest, Way to Find Extra Money in Your Budget is to Reduce PC Energy Bills by 40-60%

Power resources are diminishing as the requirements for increased IT resources are on the rise. Organizations are being forced to do more with less. The challenge lies in balancing financial, environmental, and productivity considerations. IT's mandate to maximize system availability conflicts with the view of the power management community as "standby," "hibernate" and "off" create a period of downtime as the system returns from the power saving mode. Deploying a power management solution capable of addressing these considerations is crucial to a successful "Green" enterprise.

The Program:

Pennsylvania Utility Companies provide incentives to customers that install PC Power Management Software on desktop computers.
